

Short Bio

Lorri Brewer is an Intuitive Clarity Coach, Near-Death Experience authority and keynote speaker who guides individuals and audiences to rebuild their lives with truth, clarity and purpose. After surviving a medically documented near-death experience, which included thirty-nine minutes of resuscitation, she emerged with more than survival — she returned with a message of transformation, not just inspiration. Lorri works with those ready to rise from trauma, awaken to their truth and design lives they love. Based in Alberta, Canada and serving North America, her grounded, results-focused approach has made her a trusted voice on resilience, healing and life after crisis.
